FROM THE MASTER

Gregory C Eddy
Master and Chief Executive

For 109 years Advancing King's has been a priority and a necessity. In 1950, the Master spent 12 months touring Queensland raising funds for construction of the new King's College at St Lucia.

".....he addressed Rotary Clubs and spoke on commercial radio. During that year he raised £44,000 (about $750,000 today), plus 72 acres of land at Tully, several bales of wool, trucks of cane, some cattle and a pig."

Faragher T., Men and Masters – Centenary History of King's College, 2012, p.54

There are dozens of similar examples. Today the College Foundation, established in 1987 as part of the 75th anniversary celebrations, maintains the momentum of advancing King's. It is important to note that advancement and philanthropy are not merely about money. Advancing King's also refers to those who so generously give of their time, experience, wisdom and career advancement opportunities.

In this issue of the Wyvern magazine, you will read of the extraordinary support given to the Foundation by individuals, families, and friends of the College – and institutions too! I take this opportunity to thank and acknowledge The University of Queensland, the Vice-Chancellor, Professor Deborah Terry AO, and the Pro Vice-Chancellor (Advancement), Ms Jennifer Karlsen for the opportunity provided to the College to match giving to King's.

I have two examples. Through the Create Change Match scheme, UQ matched a gift of $250,000 so that more students of the Sciences will benefit from this gift to King's. More recently, at UQ Giving Day, where UQ matched all gifts, the College was able to raise $289,000 in support of the Malcolm Whyte Bursary Fund which supports students in financial need. This is a partnership which has certainly advanced King's and I am very grateful to the University.

Earlier this year, an exciting initiative was launched by Andrew McKie (King's 1988-90). Andrew is Executive Director of Elston. From 2022, as part of the Elston "A Better Future" Strategic Plan, Elston will offer an annual prize to a high achieving student in the Faculty of Business, Economics and Law. The prize includes a $3,000 investment account, one week's work experience in their Brisbane office and participation in the Financial Literacy event hosted by Elston at King's. My sincere thanks to Andrew and all at Elston for advancing King's in this unique way.

2022 will be a special year as we celebrate the 110th anniversary of the College. As we do every five years, the College Ball will be open to the entire College community and you will see details on the back page. This is always a fabulous event with Old Collegians, parents and friends of the College in the company of current Collegians – capped at 1,000 guests in 2022, book early!!

Thank you all for your support of King's through 2021. Everyone here joins with me in wishing you the blessings of Christmas. May 2022 bring you safety, happiness, and good health.

Greg Eddy and Andrew McKie

Message from the Chair, Foundation Advisory Committee

Giving to King's has been a big part of our culture for many years. King's would not be the College it is today without the generous support of many people over our history.

The King's College Foundation, which was established in 1987, provides Old Collegians, parents, friends, corporate giving, and other philanthropic foundations the opportunity to donate funds or leave gifts through bequests to the College for the purpose of advancement.

Over the years, funds raised through the Foundation have helped build infrastructure, improve facilities, and most importantly provide scholarships and bursaries for students in need of financial assistance or rewarding their excellence in the arts, music, academia, sport, and cultural fields.

The Williams Building was completed in 1998 through a bequest from David Williams. David has also been honoured through the annual Williams Lecture since 1995.

Prior to the Centenary in 2011, there was a concerted effort to improve the facilities of the College and to raise funds for a new building through the Centenary Building Appeal. Sir Bruce Watson AC, one of Queensland's leading philanthropists, Old Collegian and Chair of the Foundation at the time, launched the Appeal at one of the many functions hosted by the Foundation in 2007 to re-engage Old Collegians with the College. Ultimately the appeal raised more than $1.5 million, and was the impetus for the building to proceed, increasing the capacity of rooms available to 288.

Since 2007, the Foundation has gone from strength to strength. The focus has shifted from infrastructure to scholarships and bursaries especially through the Malcolm Whyte Bursary Fund. This is named after Emeritus Professor Malcolm Whyte AO, an esteemed Old Collegian who in his 101st year continues to give to King's and inspire others to do the same.

It is important that we acknowledge everyone who has donated to King's over time - the support and generosity no matter how large or small has changed people's lives. We must continue our culture of giving as it provides opportunities for students who may not otherwise have had and helps improve our facilities and creates a College of which we may all be proud.

My thanks to our hard-working committee of Sally Watson, Blake Miller, Craig Chapman with support provided by Ronda Eastall and The Master. When the then President of the College Council, Justice Martin Daubney AM stepped down as President of the Council, the Foundation was quick to seek Martin's support as Patron of the Foundation. In this role, Martin, as an Old Collegian maintains a strong and visible presence in the life of the College and continues his wonderful support of King's. Officially, the trustees of the Foundation are the members of the College Council superbly led by the President, Dr Brett Robinson. My sincere thanks to them all (pictured pages 4 and 5) for their encouragement and support.

Scott Young

Council Profiles

PRESIDENT

Dr Brett Robinson

(King's 1987–88) Council member
2015 - present
CEO – RetireAustralia

Healthcare has always been a key focus for Brett, having completed a medical degree at The University of Queensland, working as a surgical trainee and later completing a Doctor of Philosophy in Clinical Orthopaedics at Oxford. Brett still works clinically but now works predominantly in executive and non-executive roles across the sectors of healthcare, rugby union and higher education.

VICE-PRESIDENT

Mr Gary Lynch

Council member 2011 - present
Queensland Government

Having completed a Business and Public Administration degree Gary has had a career in the Queensland Government for 40 years. Gary has also served as a Non-Executive Director on a number of boards mainly in the not-for-profit education and social justice areas. Gary is a father to two past Kingsmen.

TREASURER

Mr Paul Collins

Council member 2020 - present
King's College Finance Committee Chair
Partner - PricewaterhouseCoopers (PwC)

Having worked in the financial services sector for over 20 years both in Australia and the UK, Paul is passionate about ensuring organisations have the mechanisms in place to ensure strong financial governance and oversight.

SECRETARY

Ms Kathleen Newcombe

Council member 2017 - present
CEO - Sarina Russo Group of Companies

Kathleen has over thirty years of experience in the Higher Education, Vocational Training and Recruitment sectors both in Australia and the USA. Kathleen also spent three years in leadership roles in the Insurance industry where she successfully managed a Health Insurance business catering to the International Education sector.

A passionate advocate for lifelong learning, Kathleen has also sought to further her skills and knowledge through professional development programs at Harvard Business School, University of Florida and the Australian Institute of Company Directors.

UQ APPOINTMENT

Dr Dee Gibbon OAM

Council member 2021 - present
Director, Organisational Culture and Capability (OCC), Human Resources, UQ

Deanne is relatively new to the Higher Education context, having spent most of her career as an Officer in the Australian Defence Force (Air Force). She is passionate about building high-performing, inclusive and innovative organisations and looks forward to bringing this passion into the King's College context. She and her husband Rodahn parent two very capable young women and a menagerie of extremely incapable rescue dogs.

KOCA PRESIDENT

Mr Blake Miller

(King's 2003–07)
Council member 2015 – present
KOCA President, King's College Foundation
Advisory Committee member
Packhorse Investments

Blake is the proud husband to Rachel Miller and father of Archer, Hugo and Phoebe. In his spare time, he works in Investment Management focussed on Beef Cattle Operations following a 15-year career with KPMG Australia. Passionate about creating opportunities for others, Blake has remained involved in King's since graduation through the Old Collegians' Association and several different roles around the College.

COUNCIL MEMBER

Mr Dick Wharton

(King's 1959–62)
Council member 2013 – present
King's College Buildings & Grounds Committee member
Engineer (retired)

After leaving King's in 1962, Dick pursued a career in road, bridge and tunnel construction throughout Queensland. He has maintained a long association with the college through the Old Collegians Association and currently serves on the Council and The Board of Fellows.

COUNCIL MEMBER

Mr Brad De Luca

(King's 2002–04) Council member
2017 - present
Group Marketing Manager – Thomas Foods

Brad was a resident of King's College from 2002–2004 and in his 3rd year was the Minister for Sport. Brad's career lies in the development and execution of international marketing strategies to build and grow sustainable sales channels for Australian beef and lamb. Brad and his wife Krystal live in Brisbane with their three young children and remain close to many of their friends from their UQ college days.

COUNCIL MEMBER

Mr Harrison Wildman

(King's 2005–06)
Council member 2017 – present
King's College Finance Committee member
Commercial Operations Manager at RetireAustralia

Harry attended King's 2005–2006. Harry has been part of the King's Old Collegians' Association management committee for 10 years, including holding the role of Secretary and Vice President. Professionally, Harry has broad experience including international aid, impact investing, professional services and most recently senior living.

COUNCIL MEMBER

Ms Allison Warburton

Council member 2021 - present
Australian Energy Market Commission

Allison has a long association with UQ, having lived on campus at Grace College while completing her BA/LLB and later in her career returning as an occasional guest lecturer on energy and climate law subjects.

KCSC REPRESENTATIVE 2022

Mr Sam Kanizay

(King's 2020 – present) Council member
2022 King's Students' Club President (KCSC) 2022
High School - Xavier College in Melbourne

Sam moved from Melbourne at the beginning of 2020 to find his new home at King's, which compliments his passion for the academic, sporting and social lifestyle. He is currently undertaking a Bachelor of Commerce at UQ.

KCSC REPRESENTATIVE 2022

Mr Finn Taylor

(King's 2020 – present) Council member
2022 King's Students' Club Secretary (KCSC) 2022
High School – The Southport School, Southport

Finn is currently undertaking a Bachelor of Economics/Science at UQ.

Board of Fellows

There are currently 53 Fellows of the College. Fellows are appointed by the College Council in recognition of:

- Outstanding academic or professional distinction and/or
- Outstanding service to the community and/or
- Outstanding service to King's College and/or
- Outstanding contribution to the Church.

The Board of Fellows is 12 of the current Fellows who are responsible for the awarding of scholarships, bursaries and prizes. The Board meets twice each year and receives recommendations from the College and the awards are usually made at the Commemoration Dinner in May and the Valedictory Dinner in October. As an example, the Board awarded almost $150,000 in scholarships and prizes in 2021. Particular thanks to the current Chair of the Board, Mr John Miles (King's 1959–1962) and members of the Board pictured here.

Pascoe Family Travelling Scholarship

Reg Pascoe AM established the renowned Oakey Veterinary Hospital, which he built by hand after he arrived in the town as a young graduate Vet in 1952. He was one of the world's leading Equine Surgeons and Dermatologists and he devoted his entire life to veterinary excellence of the highest order. While Reg didn't attend King's his brother Vyvyan Roessler Pascoe began his career path at King's College at Kangaroo Point in 1935.

Many years later, our sons John (BVSc), David (BVSc), Roess (MB BS) and Andrew (B Pharm) became Kingsmen from 1971-1982. After Andrew graduated, the Master Dr. Ian Grimmett thanked us for sending our sons to King's for collectively 19 years and for their participation in College life.

Each enjoyed many opportunities at King's provided through sport, Student Council, and other College activities. Specifically David and Roess were fortunate to receive the McDonald Travelling Bursary, which allowed them to spend time gaining experience in a New Zealand veterinary practice and University of California-Davis Medical Centre respectively.

Many years ago, Reg and I set up a fund to support any of our grandchildren who might need financial help to further their education. Fortunately, because of the diligence of their respective parents, this wasn't needed. Reg travelled to the UK and USA to expand his knowledge in veterinary science, and all 4 sons pursued postgraduate health professions training overseas. The opportunity to travel, experience other cultures, explore new ideas, and gain a broader perspective of our global community, is a rich, life changing experience. So when the opportunity arose, and after discussion with our sons and King's College Master, Greg Eddy, we decided to create "The Pascoe Family Travelling Scholarship" to enable other young professionals to benefit from that enriching experience.

The Scholarship is awarded to a resident of King's College of at least five semesters during their time of study at UQ, to enable them to travel within Australia or internationally to broaden their educational and life experiences.

Women of King's Rural Scholarship

In 2022 the College Foundation will launch a new scholarship. Inspired by Thérèse Eddy's desire to support young rural women transitioning from their home to University in Brisbane. The scholarship will be launched early in the New Year.

"Having lived this experience, moving from a small Queensland country town to attend university, I understand the challenges faced by our rural youth. Moreover, my parents had never been to University, and I was their first (but not last) to do so."

Janet McDonald presenting the Keith McDonald Scholarship to Jacob Dwyer.

Keith McDonald Scholarship

Words have always had a particular efficacy with the daughters of Dr Keith Henry McDonald, OBE, Kingsman. We were raised on a steady diet of them, with at least four daily newspapers delivered to the driveway each morning, to the myriad of bookshelves throughout the house and in each of our bedrooms.

In the 1970s and 80s, words meant knowledge, and knowledge was the way that four girls were going to make their way into the pre-woke, largely male dominated industries that would underpay us. Words supplied us with ways to formulate courage, to argue, to understand, to support, to be genuine and to listen. Dad knew this: his girls would get an education commensurate with his own; the classics, science, music, God, and a bit of sport thrown in for balance, only, not at King's. Nonetheless, all the McDonald daughters excelled in areas of medicine, anthropology, publishing, journalism and teaching: all involving a deep contemplation of words to be able to stand upright, as Keith would have put it, in a topsy-turvy world.

All educational contexts seek to create a resilience in young people, to develop what Kamal Sarma calls "the focus of a warrior, and the peace of a monk" (2008). King's is no different, with a rich history of words that echo through history of the College.

Now, women's words flow freely, with their male peers, through the corridors of Upland Road, effecting change and opening up experiences for King's students to gain more opportunity, insight, tolerance, and enhancement. You can never step into the same river twice, and so it is that the Keith McDonald (boat) not only helped the men's rowing at King's, but also the women's rowing teams achieve historical victories. Women. In the lap of a King's boat. Named after my Dad, who had four daughters, who now continue to support their father's legacy into the next chapter of King's College. This is legacy at work, it takes time, and it takes a village like King's College to influence the words and positive outcomes of young people who will be armed for whatever the future brings them.

A/P Janet McDonald and Margaret McDonald

She is calling on friends, supporters, parents, past parents, and Old Collegians to match her $1,000 donation.

After UQ Giving Day, she said to the Master,

"I'm not in a position to give much but how about I try to raise $50,000 by October 2022, by asking people to match my donation?"

It is hoped that the first Women of King's Rural Scholarship will be awarded in 2023. It pays tribute to the incredible yet often unrecognized contribution that women have made to King's over the last 110 years. Importantly, it will provide an opportunity for a female student to attend a College that now offers a wonderful co-residential experience, where support for their transition is embedded in the culture.

"The donation doesn't have to be $1,000. Anything helps. It's what I can manage now. Perhaps others can too," Thérèse explained.

Please think about matching Thérèse's donation.

Courting the Greats

Vice- Chancellor's Alumni Excellence Award 2021

Dr Daryl Holmes OBE BDSc (Hons)
(King's 1983-86)

Qualifying as a dentist in 1987, Daryl then practised as a Dental Officer in the Royal Australian Air Force for three years, before commencing private practice in Ayr, Home Hill and Townsville, North Queensland. For several years he operated multiple dental surgeries in Townsville before pioneering a range of innovative marketing techniques for his dentistry business. Having listed the business, it was renamed 1300SMILES. A name familiar to those watching a Rugby League match from the Townsville stadium. Daryl would also become the CEO for the North QLD Cowboys. Today, he continues to work tirelessly as a volunteer dentist on the YWAM Medical Ships delivering better health care in rural & remote PNG.

During his time at College, Daryl was a driving force in many aspects of King's College and he continues to make an outstanding contribution to collegiate life. His contribution has been felt most by those who benefit from his scholarship support – students who would not normally attend College and UQ do so by virtue of his generosity.

Nothing demonstrates the theme of this Wyvern edition more than two Old Collegians who were recognised at this year's Courting the Greats ceremony in October.

Colleges' UQ Alumni Award 2021

Scott Young
(King's 1984-86) Bachelor of Arts

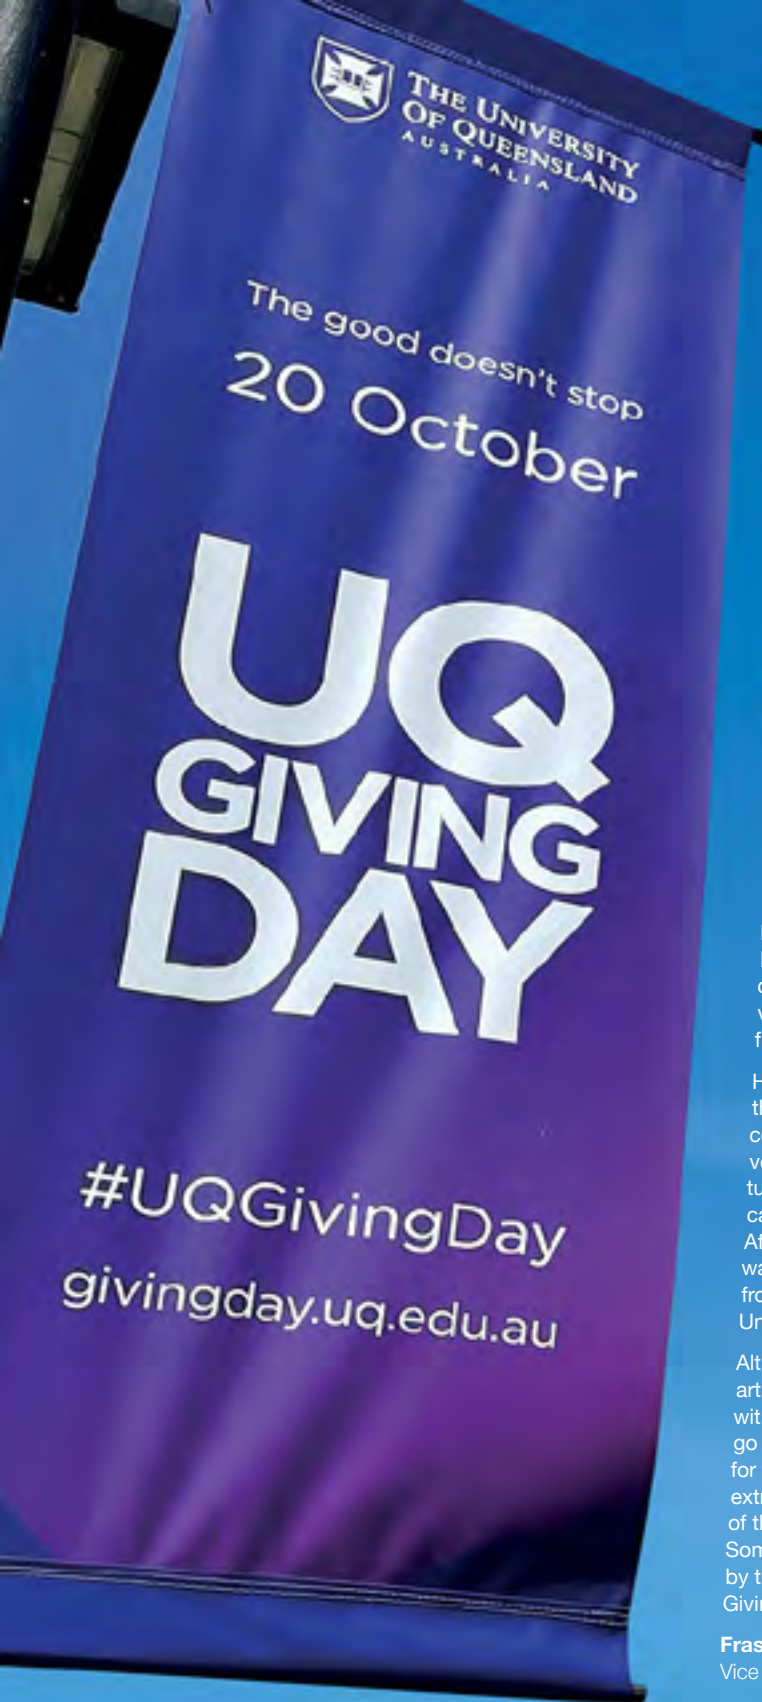

Inspired by experiences while travelling the world as an international rugby referee, Scott witnessed firsthand how a good education can transform a young person's life. It was during this time he became passionate about charitable work. Alongside school friend Waverley Stanley of 'Yalari', Scott began raising funds to support this important cause.

Prior to this, Scott was the Director of Advancement at King's and was instrumental in raising funds for various College building projects. He continues to contribute to King's College today, as a Fellow of the College, and now the Foundation Advisory committee and Chair.

Congratulations to both Daryl and Scott.

Mr Peter Varghese AO, Chancellor of UQ, Dr Daryl Holmes OBE, Prof Deborah Terry AO, Vice-Chancellor of UQ, Mr Scott Young, and Mr Greg Eddy, Master & Chief Executive.

I was first made aware of UQ GIVING DAY at the beginning of September and although it was still more than a month away the event sat in the back of my mind for the following weeks.

Coming from a rural upbringing and attending the local state school for my secondary education, I was fortunate enough to receive a scholarship to King's in my first year. Although the experiences I had in that time could fill a few more pages, I've been given a strict word count!

To put it briefly, I can wholeheartedly say my time at King's was life changing and a tremendously rewarding time. If it were not for the scholarship in my first year this may have never occurred.

It was this opportunity that I had so fortunately received from the King's College Foundation that I'd always hoped to replicate one day, particularly for rural students from a state school looking to venture to university. Of course, being 22 it was an aspiration to fulfill a long way down the track.

However, a little less than three weeks later an opportunity arose in the manner all good ones do – over a couple of quiet drinks. The conversation with a person, who wishes to remain anonymous, ventured down the typical career and future goals topic, but soon turned to the act of giving back. Being well established in their career and in life, this person expressed the importance of this. After briefly mentioning the idea I would one day hope to fulfill I was blown away by the immediate donation of $10,000 received from them. A donation which was subsequently matched by the University on UQ Giving Day for a total donation of $20,000.

Although I took the opportunity to articulate the idea, all the thanks lie solely with the donor. I hope their generosity will go some way to providing opportunities for those students who require a bit of extra assistance. This is just one example of the generosity out there in the world. Something which was further exemplified by the entire King's community on UQ Giving Day.

Fraser McVeigh (King's 2017-20)
Vice President, KOCA

UQ Giving Day Morning Tea

FROM THE KOCA PRESIDENT

Hello King's Old Collegians and to the wider King's Community.

The year is certainly slipping away with COVID keeping us modest in our events after a strong start to the 2021 year.

A good run early in the year with several of the Society events, ANZAC Day, the Welcome to KOCA Drinks and the AGM all operating as per pre-COVID time! Alas, the good run came to an end and unfortunately the engineering focused Broomhead Watson Society and the Whyte Pegg Society for Medicine and Health disciplines had to be cancelled. These events will be back in 2022.

It was pleasing at the AGM in late July to see that the physical and digital attendance was strong with some 20-30 Old Collegians attending digitally from across Australia joining the 20 in person attendees. The digital platform will continue to feature as technology is leveraged to further KOCA's mission and better connect with Old Collegians whether they be living in St Lucia, London, New York, Paris or Cape Town.

KOCA support of the Malcolm Whyte Bursary Fund raising efforts of the College

One of the challenges for the Committee is what to support with financial backing. The Committee is always mindful that the membership funds which form the basis of the funds KOCA manages should be maximised in their impact and enduring benefit to the College and Old Collegians. As such, the Committee has been cautious in recent years with expenditure.

This was a fortunate move as it allowed KOCA to invest $50,000 recently in the UQ Giving Day King's College Malcolm Whyte Bursary Fund. This investment was matched dollar for dollar by the UQ Endowment Fund resulting in a $100,000 investment in the Bursary Fund. KOCA's donation, on behalf of all Old Collegians, saw King's achieve a total of $289,000 in fundraising for the fund and establishes the foundation for a number of bursaries which will go towards supporting students to attend the College.

Centenary of KOCA 2023

While 2022 is the 110th anniversary of the College, 2023 sees the 100th anniversary of the founding of KOCA.

Coinciding with the 2022 College Ball – KOCA intends to launch the centenary of KOCA at the Anniversary Ball and continue the celebration throughout 2023. I encourage all Old Collegians to attend the Ball which is open to the entire College Community every 5 years. A number of reunion convenors will be reaching out in due course to arrange reunions for the 0's, the 1's and the 2's as catch-up reunions to address the disrupted last few years.

A dedicated sub-committee has been formed called the Century of KOCA Committee (a working title). Old Collegians wishing to support the Committee and KOCA's efforts to celebrate 100 years of Old Collegians' achievements should reach out to Matthew Morgan, Committee Convenor, via the College.

All Hail the Great Wyvern.
Blake Miller

INTRODUCING THE 2021 - 2022 COMMITTEE

Working to advance the KOCA community

With the AGM complete for 2021, some old hands and some new members formed the Committee for 2021 - 2022.

Matthew Morgan

Matthew Morgan (King's 2004-07) - KOCA Treasurer is a 5-year veteran of KOCA and an avid renovator and entrepreneur.

Matthew has been honing his skills in the start-up technology space recently specialising in network-based communities.

At College he was known as 'Frenchy' and was both a Residential Assistant and KCSC Social Minister.

Andrew Collins

Andrew Collins (King's 2016) has been a quiet and competent operator on the Management Committee for several years. Behind the scenes he has organised a number of the Welcome to KOCA evenings and provided steady counsel to the broader committee. Andrew works in EY's financial services consulting group in Sydney.

While at College and for a time after, in partnership with David Jackman, Andrew drove the Hong Kong Ten's program for the College which saw great success at a global level for a number of King's Rugby players.

Tony Charlesworth

Tony Charlesworth (King's 1999-05) - KOCA Secretary, who works as a Precedent & Risk Solicitor / Assistant Underwriter with Lexon Insurance and also runs his own Real Estate Agency, Personalised Property is back in his second year as Secretary.

While at College Tony was a Senior Residential Assistant and also the Secretary of the KCSC. Sitting on Council gave Tony a deep appreciation of the opportunities and challenges the College faces and the importance of KOCA's role in the governance of the College.

Fraser McVeigh

Fraser McVeigh (King's 2017-20) - KOCA Vice-President is working as a Graduate Engineer with Helmont Energy and as a Tender Researcher at Sarina Russo.

During his time at College, Fraser was instrumental in the reinvigoration of the Senior Common Room - a space dedicated to third years and above to create a point of difference for the more seasoned King's Collegians. Fraser was also the ICC President in 2019.

Fraser brings a great deal of energy and new insight to the committee and is responsible for working with the Director of Academic & Careers Services to refresh the way KOCA engages with the current King's Collegians while they live at College.

Ashleigh Hockings

Ashleigh Hockings (King's 2020) is KOCA's first female member bringing her energy and social media savviness to modernise the KOCA digital presence.

Ashleigh was a member of the King's Henley Rowing squad and champion Coxswain for the ICC rowing team, as well as having participated at State and National level rowing competitions. While at College, Ashleigh was the inaugural recipient of the Lady Watson Scholarship for King's College. She currently works with Strong Digital as an intern Web Designer.

Nathan Heuhne

Nathan Heuhne (King's 2012-13) - Nathan, another of our veterans, brings a wealth of client relationship management capability from time with HSBC in Canada and the Commonwealth Bank in Brisbane.

A Brisbane Grammarian, Nathan was on the Executive Committee of the Old Boys' Association for 2 years which has been invaluable in providing fresh ideas to KOCA.

We were reminded recently by the Vice-President that not everyone is across who and what KOCA is.

I thought this would be a good time to introduce the 2021 - 2022 Management Committee and what their roles are.

Andrew Lynch

Andrew Lynch (King's 2016) - Is now a veteran member of the Committee and also sits on the Buildings and Grounds Committee of Council which supports the College's management and development of physical assets.

An engineer with time at Aurecon, Watpac and BMI Group previously, Andrew is now with EY's infrastructure consulting group in Brisbane.

Jake Lengui

Jake Lengui (King's 2016) - Working in the Construction and Development side of Law at CDI Lawyers Pty Ltd, Jake has been a 4-year member of the Committee.

Although at College for a short 1-year stint, Jake has supported the execution of a number of the events on the KOCA calendar.

Jack Woods

Jack Woods (King's 2017-19) - another new member fresh to the Committee this year, Jack is a passionate young man who is lawyer by day at Clashfern Chambers and DJ by night across Brisbane and the Gold Coast.

Jack supports Tony as Assistant Secretary.

Matthew McCarthy

Matthew McCarthy (King's 2017-19) - joined the Committee this year for his first stint. Currently a paralegal at Creevey Russell Lawyers, he was also for a time on the UQ Union as a Vice President and is a volunteer for The University of Queensland Pro Bono Centre.

While at College, Matthew was a recipient of the King's College Scott Fletcher Prize and recognised as an academic high achiever.

What's on in 2022

With the 2021 events complete, please keep these days in mind for 2022 as the following KOCA events will again grace your calendars!

- Welcome to KOCA Drinks - Friday February 25th (Port Office Hotel)
- ANZAC Day - at King's College 25th April 2022.
- AGM - Friday 29th July at King's College and online.
- Cooper Foote - Tuesday, 15 March
- Broomhead Feros - Tuesday, 10 May
- Watson Miles - Tuesday, 16 August
- Whyte Pegg (inaugural) - Tuesday 20 September

KOCA is on Facebook

Search for the KOCA private group on Facebook and connect with us to enjoy real-time communications from the College and updates on the latest events, job opportunities or announcements.

Thanks to Harrison Wildman

At the AGM in July, Harrison Wildman stepped down as KOCA Vice-President. Harry had been with the committee for 5 years. He was nominated and elected as a Council Representative in 2018.

Harrison's wise counsel and steady approach were greatly appreciated on the Committee and his calm leadership contributions were critical in KOCA's decision making. His contribution to KOCA is greatly appreciated and on behalf of all Old Collegians I would like to publicly thank Harry for his professional and personal support whilst on the Committee.

While Harry no longer sits on the KOCA Management Committee, he still sits on the College Council and is currently also a member of the Finance Committee of the College, which advises the Council on all matters of finance, audit and risk.

William Yang

Sincere thanks to Fellow of the College, William Yang (King's 1962-65) who so generously supported the College's purchase of one of his spectacular photographs featured at his exhibition "Seeing and Being Seen" held at the Queensland Art Gallery for three months during 2021. The work titled "Self Portrait with Trees" now proudly hangs in the Robinson Room at the College. We are also very grateful for his donation of a separate work, titled self-portrait at The University of Queensland.

FROM THE 2022 KCSC President

I was born in Melbourne where I attended Xavier College from year 7 to 12. After much consideration about my future, I moved to Brisbane at the beginning of 2020 to study commerce at The University of Queensland. Here I have found a new home in King's College and I am humbled to be the KCSC President for 2022.

Moving interstate for university and coming to College is an unusual decision for most Melbournians, but I can say with confidence that I wouldn't be the man I am today without King's. When I moved, Max Lowe (next year's Vice President) was the only mate I knew in Queensland, and we were welcomed by a friendly executive team and returning King's men.

As early as O-Week, I was immersed in the spirit and unparalleled social scene of college. The sporting pride celebrated involvement and support for all sports.

My cohort has been the first to experience King's purely as a co-residential college. I have enjoyed the unique experience living with men and women, particularly having come from an all-boys school. The success of the last two years paves the way for a promising future which I am excited to be a part of.

I look forward to working with Greg Eddy, Peter Walker and the administrative staff, who fully invest themselves in King's year in, year out. I wish to uphold the firm relationship between students and the administration, which has enabled King's to organise the memorable college events of recent years. Thank you to the leadership of the 2021 Executive Team, led by James Murray. I hope to uphold the King's spirit as you all have done so well.

Sam Kanizay
2022 President, King's College Student Club (KCSC)

Congratulations

Kara Kroon

Kara Kroon was selected for the prestigious School of Environment and Science Academic Excellence Award 2021 at Griffith University.

This award recognises and celebrates the outstanding achievements of undergraduate students who achieve top academic results with an exceptional cumulative Grade Point Average (GPA) and are completing their degree.

Kara, an Academic Residential Assistant (ARA) at King's in 2021, completed the Bachelor of Medical Science at Griffith University in November 2021 and will commence the Doctor of Medicine program also at Griffith University (Gold Coast Campus) in January 2022.

Emily Scott

The King's Community warmly congratulates Associate Member Emily Scott.

Currently studying B Laws (Hons)/B Science, who was recently elected to The University of Queensland's 35th Senate as the undergraduate student representative (for 2022-2023)

The Senate has broad powers to act for and on behalf of the university and, as the governing body, is implicitly accountable for the university's performance.

Toby Gillen

An offer not to be refused was the case for Toby Gillen (King's 2021) after recently receiving a four year Track & Field Scholarship to St Louis University, Missouri.

Toby has been a keen runner ever since winning the Cross country in grade 8. Highlights to date have been placing 9th at the Australian World Cross Country Championships and 6th in Denmark. The College wishes you well Toby.

UQ Medallists

Two Old Collegians will receive 2020 University Medals at ceremonies postponed until December.

The University medals are "awarded to graduates who achieve outstanding academic results for the duration of their program... who go above and beyond the requirements of their degree"

James Barrett (King's 2015-17)

"I am honoured to be a recipient of a UQ Medal for 2020 and would like to thank King's College for their continued support during and after the completion of my degree."

Dr Liam Spannenberg (King's 2014-16, KCSC President 2016)

Awarded for the extracurricular research and enrolment in the Master of Public Health program concurrently.

FROM THE DIRECTOR OF ACADEMIC AND CAREER SERVICES

Having celebrated 5 years at King's this past August I couldn't help but reflect on what has transpired in the Academic & Careers' portfolio in that time to advance the number of opportunities available to our students, and on how different the academic experience of today's cohort must look compared to that of the men who first resided here in the early days of the College's 110 year history.

The first cohort of King's students in 1913 could never have imagined that King's would have a thriving College community of nearly 400 young men and women taking a mixture of in-person and online classes in programs such as Information Technology, Tourism and Event Management, or Occupational Health and Safety. Nor would they have foreseen a Learning Centre with a range of desktops, laptops, and printers for general use; students being able to book academic and career support appointments via social media; or information sessions about sitting online exams.

Getting to this point has been the accumulation of the incremental advancements made by generations of King's students and staff who have each, in their own ways, helped to shape the contemporary College environment. I count myself fortunate to have worked with and seen firsthand over these past several years the contributions of the many individuals who play a role in advancing King's in the academic and careers space. Through their generous gifts of time, knowledge, and unwavering support, together, they have ensured the success of the academic and careers area - something for which I and the entire College community are truly grateful.

For example, the Academic Support Team, which includes Tutors, the Writing Consultant, and Academic Residential Assistants (ARAs) all contribute by providing academic support and guidance that is unparalleled to any other College at UQ. The College's major Academic Program, the Tutorial Program, currently offers over 130 tutorials per week in different disciplines and areas of study - the largest tutorial offering the College has ever provided. The program encompasses more than 60 tutorial staff, many of whom have postgraduate qualifications and/or significant industry experience. In addition, more than half of our Tutors are either Old Collegians or current high-achieving residents who thoroughly enjoy giving back to the College in this way.

Similarly, in recent years, King's has organised an intensive program to assist students to prepare for the Graduate Medical School Admissions Test (GAMSAT), a three-part, all-day exam often tied to entry into medical school in Australia. The appointment of Edward (Ned) Farley, a 3rd year Doctor of Medicine student at UQ, has helped several students prepare effectively for this exam. The program's intensive sessions have contributed to producing successful results for many King's students and to increasing their competitiveness for medical school entry. In addition to intensive GAMSAT sessions offered by Ned, the College has also called upon Old Collegian and 2nd year UQ Doctor of Medicine student, Ronan Petersen, to help students prepare for medical school interviews - which are often daunting for applicants. Both Ned and Ronan have helped transform the way our aspiring medical students, not only prepare for entrance exams and interviews, but also how to approach medical school once they have been admitted. We thank them for advancing the opportunities of these students and for their dedication to the College.

Another dedicated member of the Academic Support Team advancing opportunities for students at King's is our Writing Consultant, Brian Clarke. Brian, who has been with the College since 2017, has assisted countless students to improve their academic writing skills and make a smooth transition from high school to university level academic writing. Providing a unique and specialised service at the College, Brian is available both in-person and online. He patiently guides students to present their thoughts in concise and effective ways, while providing constructive feedback that helps build students' confidence in the writing process. The feedback on Brian is always positive and, as a College, we are very fortunate to have this service available to our students.

King's has also received incredible support to make important advancements in the careers space. From being guest speakers, sitting on industry panels, delivering specialised workshops and seminars, to providing part- or full-time work opportunities, numerous Old Collegians and industry leaders have been instrumental to advancing and enriching the range of career support available to our students. And with the recent addition of Lynda Murphy, Associate Director of Academic & Career Services, King's has made it clear that further expanding and enhancing the Careers and Employability programs and services already available at the College is a key priority. In early 2022 we hope to roll out two major projects that current students, Old Collegians, and the broader King's community can all participate in: the King's Mentorship Program and Jobs' Board. Additional details about these opportunities will be disseminated over the coming months. In the meantime, we continue to offer a bespoke matching service, connecting well-suited students (both past and present) to a range of Old Collegians, other industry partners, and their businesses. This service helps organisations find highly suitable candidates to fill their vacancies at no cost, while assisting King's students to secure employment.

I could continue on - from advice on academic administration matters through to support with prestigious scholarship applications and much more - the number of opportunities available at the College for King's students to advance themselves academically and prepare for successful careers has never been greater.

On the following pages you will read a range of testimonials from current students, Old Collegians, Academic Support Staff, and industry partners who have benefitted from or are contributing to the work being done at King's to provide students this level of support. As King's approaches its 110th anniversary in 2022 it is clear that there is much to celebrate! We look forward to continue working with the King's broader community to build on this success and to keep enhancing the Academic and Careers' portfolio through establishing new partnerships and strengthening our existing ones.

On behalf of all of King's Academic and Career Services staff, thank you for all of your support this year to advance our program. We wish you a very Merry Christmas and happy New Year!

All the best,

Tony Andres
Director of Academic & Career Services

Testimonials

Tutorial Program

Over my 3 years at King's, I have made great use of the College's academic services. The Tutorial Program has saved my life on many occasions when I don't understand a concept or theory in my degree. As well as this, the King's Tutorial Program has provided me with the opportunity to gain knowledge and understanding of all my university subjects in greater depth than I would have had otherwise. I highly commend the quality of Tutors and the Academic Staff at King's as they are very knowledgeable in their fields. They have helped me greatly during my time at King's.

James Murray (King's 2019-21), 2021 KCSC President, 3rd year B Behavioural Science (Psychology)/B Business, QUT

Before my engagement with the King's Academic Program I had never consistently received distinctions and high distinctions. The Academic & Career Services Team at King's led by Tony provides high calibre Tutors which in turn has increased my network of professional connections. Brian, the Writing Consultant, is also a huge asset to the program. I would strongly recommend that all residents and Associates take advantage of these great opportunities.

Georgia Haigh (King's 2020-21), 3rd year B Laws (Honours)/B Business, QUT

During my time at King's, I have had the unique opportunity to be a part of the College's Tutorial Program as a student and Academic Tutor. The program provided me with immense support throughout some of the most difficult and challenging tasks that I faced while at university. To me, the help I received to finish my degree was unrivalled in quality and I will be forever grateful for the tireless dedication shown by the Academic & Career Services Team at King's.

Rigardt Kruger (King's 2016, 2018-19), Graduated B Clinical Exercise Physiology (Honours Class 1), UQ

Tutoring at King's is my way of giving back to a College that gave me so much during my time as a resident. With its abundant academic, social, cultural, and sporting opportunities, it's home to some of the best times of my life so far, so to actually help provide some of those opportunities through the Tutorial Program has been a real privilege. Over the years, I've seen Tony and the King's Team grow the Tutorial Program to greater heights each semester, striving to provide assistance for all students regardless of their courses or abilities, and it is clear how invaluable these services are in enriching the academic side of college life. All this, combined with the support that Tony and his team provides and the respect and enthusiasm each student displays, has meant that tutoring at King's has never felt like working, just like coming home.

Luke Chapman (King's 2016-18), Science & Biomedical Science Tutor at King's since 2019

Both as a student and Tutor, I've always appreciated the King's Tutorial Program for its capacity to provide quality insights into subjects and shape effective approaches to university study. College life presents many opportunities (and distractions) for learning outside the classroom and tutorials are an essential part of helping students excel academically whilst freeing up time to pursue growth in social, sporting, and other extra-curricular settings.

Having participated in the King's Tutorial Program since 2017, I've thoroughly enjoyed working alongside the Academic & Career Services Team led by Tony to contribute to the development of King's men and women and I look forward to supporting the program into the future.

Hayden Fabé (King's 2014-16), Business & Law Tutor at King's since 2017

I have been involved in the King's Tutorial Program for the last 3 years, providing assistance for students studying Architecture programs at UQ and QUT. The King's academic offering and support for students is vast and the commitment of the College and its staff to it, is truly commendable. Outside of providing King's students with support during their studies, one of the reasons I was drawn to the role was the opportunity to add a layer of network connection for the students with the Architectural Industry. Having the ability to connect with someone working in the field is invaluable when you are studying. It can give you insight and knowledge into future industry and workplace. It's such a privilege to have this opportunity to contribute to the King's community, and although COVID has presented us with challenges in the delivery of tutorials over the last year, the program has been adapted and the connection with students maintained, to deliver the academic support they need.

Melissa Hughes, Architecture Tutor at King's since 2019

Interested In Getting Involved?

If you would like to get involved in the King's Academic and Career Services Program through tutoring, industry events, or would like to promote internship and/or work opportunities to the King's community please contact: Tony Andres at t.andres@kings.uq.edu.au or Lynda Murphy at l.murphy@kings.uq.edu.au

I have tutored mechanical engineering courses at King's since 2017 and enjoy coming back every year to meet a new cohort of students keen to discover deeper understanding of their coursework. The King's Tutorial Program provides an excellent structure not only for students to seek advice from a Tutor but also to gather together and work collaboratively on their studies. It is clear that King's Staff is greatly invested in the success of the students and that the benefit from their hard work is wide-ranging.

Dr Mitch Dunn, Engineering Tutor at King's since 2017

GAMSAT Preparation Sessions

The King's academic community is one of collaboration and striving to perform in all scholarly pursuits. As the GAMSAT Tutor at King's, I have worked with a number of highly intelligent, motivated and ambitious students who are eager to learn and reach significant goals. It has been humbling to be a part of this process and to help bring out the strengths of each member of our tutorial group as cohorts of Medical student-hopefuls come through our tutorials. The energy and drive of the students makes the job worthwhile, and I look forward to continuing through to 2022.

Edward (Ned) Farley, GAMSAT Tutor at King's since 2019

I began at King's and UQ in Semester 2 of 2020, having transferred from The University of Melbourne where I was studying a Bachelor of Music, with the dream of being a professional orchestral violinist. I had truly amazing experiences in first year. However, I realised that whilst I loved violin, I missed working with people and the problem-solving thinking skills that Medicine offered, and decided to switch into a Bachelor of Science in 2019. This meant I had to sit the GAMSAT entry exam and interview. From the time I was enrolled at King's back in April 2020, Tony and his team offered me amazing support with my studies and made sure I had access to tutorials for the GAMSAT and interviews. Both Ned, the GAMSAT tutor, and Ronan, the interview tutor, as well as other tutors and ex-King's students, went above and beyond to help and support me throughout the process. King's is truly a place where you can be yourself and achieve your goals, while being fully immersed in all parts of the King's community. It sounds cliché, but the staff and programs at King's truly helped me achieve my dreams getting into Medical School, and for that, I will be eternally grateful.

Lucy Brodie (King's 2020-21), Commencing the Doctor of Medicine at UQ in 2022

Getting into a graduate medical school program is difficult, with approximately 5500 people applying each year for about 2000 interviews, with there ultimately being around 1000 places for students. To be competitive I needed to have a good GPA, GAMSAT score and interview, and I honestly don't know a place other than King's College that is able to help with all three! I graduated with First Class Honours in Exercise & Sport Sciences because of the assistance and support Tony and his Academic Team gave me, but this degree didn't give me all the knowledge required to sit the GAMSAT. Ned was able to help me from knowing nothing and essentially failing my first GAMSAT sit, to getting a good enough score in my second attempt to receive an interview offer. I was then able to develop my interview skills with Ronan's help to receive an offer for Deakin's Doctor of Medicine program, which was my first preference and has allowed me to enjoy the coastal lifestyle living on the Great Ocean Road!

Daniel Broadbridge (King's 2017-20), Commenced the Doctor of Medicine at Deakin University in 2021

The GAMSAT was a very challenging and daunting test to prepare for due to the depth and breadth of content covered. After doing preparation on my own the year before, it was obvious how helpful the King's GAMSAT prep program was. Ned's expertise and experience helped to structure my study, making it manageable, effective, and enjoyable. Ned was a dedicated and patient tutor who altered his teaching style to cater for each individual student's strengths and weaknesses. The support continued after GAMSAT, with Tutor Ronan helping me prepare for my medical school interview and application. If you're looking to apply for medical school, regardless of whether you have a strong science background or not, I would highly recommend participating in the King's GAMSAT prep sessions.

Callum Tucker (King's 2017-20), Commenced the Doctor of Medicine at UQ in 2021

Careers & Employability Support

After being approached by the King's Academic & Career Services Team about a position opening up at a Recruitment & Consulting firm in Brisbane, they helped me to prepare for the interview. Having never sat a job interview, I didn't know what to expect. Lynda helped me through the process of creating a formal resume and preparing me for different interview questions. After three stages of interviewing, I was delighted to receive an offer.

Being a student at King's College has given me the opportunity of a job I didn't expect to get so early on in my degree. Without the guidance and preparation provided by Tony and Lynda, I'm not sure this would have happened.

Emma Hazelton (King's 2020-21), 2nd year B Business Management, UQ

I am absolutely thrilled to have been chosen for an internship with Components Only. I felt fortunate when King's Academic & Career Services Team contacted me to let me know that the opportunity had arisen. Simply going through the recruitment process - from the initial application to the interview and finally the presentation stage - was a great learning experience in itself. I was blessed to have someone like Lynda by my side to support me throughout the process. To have her guidance, ranging from feedback on my application to interview tips, was beneficial and I'm sure that it helped get me across the line. The internship will, no doubt, provide me with the chance to gain vital knowledge and develop skills that will be useful both now and in the future. I'm forever grateful for the King's connection that has made this whole experience possible.

Eva McKee (King's 2020-21), 3rd year B Business Management/B Communication, UQ

Being in my final semester at UQ and King's, I really began to stress about what I would be doing when I finished college and graduated. I reached out to Lynda for support which was one of the best decisions I made. Her wealth of experience meant she was able to help me at each stage of the recruitment process from how to create a successful CV to preparation and tips for job interviews. For anyone who is seeking work experience such as internships, vacation programs and graduate programs, the Academic & Career Services Team at King's has access to a network of recruiters and job opportunities. After speaking with Lynda, within a few days they were able to put me in touch with Components Only who had an opening for a Business Process Analyst internship. This was a perfect role for me and followed on perfectly from my degree in Business Management. I highly recommend that all King's students make an appointment to see Lynda or Tony as soon as possible especially if you want to polish your CV for holiday jobs or explore some opportunities for work related to your degree.

Brandon Palmer (King's 2019-21), Final year B Business Management (Economics & International Business), UQ

This is our first foray into graduate and intern recruitment and working with the team at King's has been a pleasure. King's provided us with a shortlist of quality candidates for us to interview.

Our process included an initial first round where we shortlisted candidates, followed by a second and final interview where the students presented their response to a task relevant to the roles they applied for. The high calibre of the students made the selection process quite challenging for us and is a testament to the quality of teaching and subject matter delivered by UQ.

Our internship program takes in students across multiple disciplines, including marketing, finance, and business operations. Through the program, we aim to give them the opportunity to get their hands dirty and put the knowledge they have developed at university into practical use within a fast-moving business environment. I want to thank the team at King's for presenting such excellent candidates. They are all very impressive people with bright futures ahead of them.

Ben Hailes (King's 1996-98), Director at Components Only

COMPONENTS ONLY

Nearing the end of my business studies at UQ, the thought of applying for internships was quite daunting. I decided to contact the King's Academic & Career Services Team to make use of their careers and employability support. After reaching out, I was put in contact with an Old Collegian from Components Only about an internship vacancy that aligned with my career aspirations. Throughout the application process the support I received from both King's and Components Only was extensive, I was guided through the process from creation of my resume to being able to interview effectively. I'm immensely appreciative of the ongoing support on offer from the team at King's. It was valuable for me to reach out as I'm now in a situation where I can apply the skills and knowledge gained during my studies to my current marketing internship.

Reece Strutynski (King's 2017-20), Graduated B Business Management (Marketing), UQ

When I was contacted by the King's Academic & Career Services Team about a potential internship, I was immediately excited, as I had been looking to gain some applicable experience in my chosen field. I was, however, very aware that my resume and cover letter needed some work for me to be successful. Thankfully, the King's Team, Lynda in particular, having plenty of experience with undergraduate engineers and preparing them for job interviews like this one, were able to help me edit my resume so that it was more relevant to my chosen field. I was very happy with how the interview at Georgiou went. However, I knew I was up against some stiff competition. I eagerly awaited the phone call and was thrilled to hear that I had received the job a few days later. I am very excited to start my new job at the end of this year and couldn't have done it without the support I received from the King's College Academic & Career Services Team.

Nayan Patel (King's 2019-21), 2nd year Bachelor of Engineering (Honours)/B Commerce

Our business has had the benefit of some truly great employees from King's College over the last 5 years, all well-presented, smart, and hardworking individuals with true leadership qualities.

Recently, I had the great pleasure of working with King's for a new vacancy. They supplied me with five candidates (in under a week) of exceptional quality, resulting in a terribly difficult decision/choice over how I could increase my intake capacity.

I can only hope that this relationship can continue between our business for many years to come.

Sean Donald, Georgiou Group Operations Manager (QLD)

Writing Consultations

King's offer an extensive range of academic support, including their writing consultation service. Brian has helped me to write better assignments; ensuring that my paragraph structure, word choice, grammar, and everything in between allows me to get my message across in the best way possible. I find such great benefit from Brian's writing support that I have continued to call on his services since graduating from King's.

Max Andrews (King's 2017-19), Graduated B Exercise & Sport Sciences (Honours Class I), UQ

One of the best perks at King's is the Writing Consultant, Brian. Not only does having one-on-one sessions with a professional editor improve sentence structure and clarity, it also improves the overall quality of your essay's argument. In doing so, Brian has taught me valuable lessons on writing well that I will keep with me beyond university life and King's.

William Splatt (King's 2019-21), 3rd year B Politics, Philosophy & Economics (Honours), UQ

Since I began at King's in March 2017, I've had exceptional support from Tony, Lynda, and other staff. Everyone at the college has always made me feel welcome, which makes it a great workplace.

As Tony had predicted at the start, it took a little while for students to get used to the idea of a tutor who could help them with their writing skills. But since then, the demand for my assistance has grown consistently, usually through recommendations from students I've helped.

At King's, I've worked with some very bright students in many different subject areas. They learn fast, and will, no doubt, achieve their long-term goals. Others who have sought regular help have progressed more steadily, and are also scoring high marks. Either way, I love working with and getting to know the students. It is particularly satisfying to see how they respond to my suggestions, and how they develop skills they'll have for the rest of their lives. I reckon I'm lucky to have found my ideal workplace.

Brian Clarke, King's Writing Consultant since 2017

During my final year of undergraduate study, I was grateful to be able to utilise King's extensive range of academic services, in particular, the writing consultations with Brian. Not only did Brian support me through multiple course work assessments and scholarship applications, his tutorage and practical tips have been foundational in improving my writing style and knowledge. He also instilled in me life-long skills that I'll use throughout my career.

KING'S IN PINK

FUN RUN & WALK King's supporting women's cancers

From the Patron (Thérèse Eddy)

I WAS ABSOLUTELY DELIGHTED TO BE INVOLVED IN KING'S IN PINK AGAIN IN 2021. SINCE ITS INCEPTION IN 2008, THIS FUND-RAISING CAMPAIGN HAS TAKEN ON VARIOUS FORMATS, FROM THE FIRST COCKTAIL PARTY IN 2008, TO A FASHION PARADE IN 2009, DRINKS ON THE DECK AT OUR HOME AT KING'S IN 2010, TO THE FUN RUN/WALK OF TODAY, WHICH BEGAN IN 2018.

Driven by Madeleine Warner, (Director of Marketing & Communications), the first few years of the Fun Run/Walk were hampered by torrential rain which, while putting a dampener on the day, did not put a dampener on our efforts and enthusiasm. Fortunately, this year we were blessed with brilliant weather and a lifting of Covid restrictions to allow the event to go ahead (almost) as planned.

One of the highlights for me this year, has been watching the student representatives on the committee engage in the event management process with enthusiasm and commitment. Attending meetings, reading agendas, reporting back, creating action plans, following through, are all vital parts of any project. The King's in Pink student committee (Lucas Ladyman, Mathew Early, Sarah Wilkey, Lachlan Harnett and Maddi Egan) were exemplary in all these factors. We are particularly grateful for their efforts in sourcing student appropriate raffle and silent auction prizes, something students have shied away from in the past. Thank you so much to these students. I hope you have gained as much from this experience as you have given.

Our guest speaker this year was Stacy Nottle (nee Cooney). Stacy and I attended boarding school together, and we reconnected through her work as Careers Counsellor at Toowoomba Grammar earlier in the year.

Stacy published her memoirs "Breastless" in February her second published work (the first being a novel called "After the Flood", in 2019). Stacy's memoirs lead us through her experiences dealing with a breast cancer diagnosis and subsequent treatment. We are grateful that she was able to share some of this with us in the dining hall, as we ate a wonderful breakfast provided by our major sponsors, Chartwell's.

Finally, we are grateful for the support of our many donors who provided prizes for the raffles and silent auction. They are local community members and businesses, current and past parents and students, and our suppliers such as Chartwells' as listed here. Without their contribution, our fund-raising efforts would be paltry. We are also thankful for those who bid and purchased raffle tickets.

Many initiatives take time to gain momentum. This year, with the assistance of the all the people mentioned above, I think King's in Pink Fun Run/Walk has hit its stride. I am sure that it will continue to go from strength to strength.

Farewell

Morning tea was held recently for two members of staff.

We bid farewell to Tais Fernandes, Supervisor with Madison Cleaning who is moving to Western Australia.

Chartwell's Catering Manager, Darrel Zimmerman, after a long career in hospitality (and 12 years at King's), is putting the utensils down and making a career change. Darrel and his wife are moving to the Sunshine Coast to take up positions within the NDIS scheme.

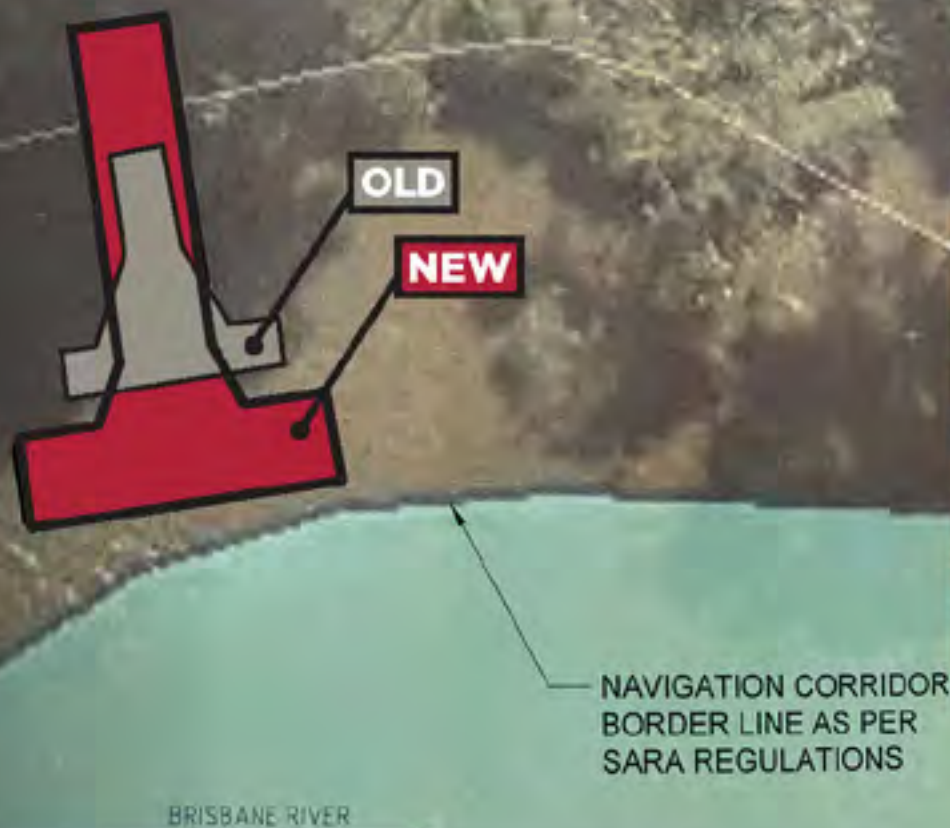

Thank you both for all you have done for the College. Best wishes for your future endeavours.

New Pontoon

Exciting developments on the riverbank early in the new year with the installation of a new pontoon replacing the existing structure.

A wider gangway will reach a further 3m out into the water with a 14 m long x 4m wide pontoon, enabling 2 fours on the pontoon at one time. Rowers can look forward to faster boat turnover at rowing regattas and all-round ease of maneuvering the boats on and off the water.
