2024 EXPLANATION OF FEES

GST: Goods and Services Tax

"Where any goods and services tax is, or is to be, imposed on the College on anything supplied by the College under this contract, including without limitation rent, fees, non-refundable deposits, contingency fees etc the College shall be entitled to collect that GST from the Student at the same time the Student pays for the supply or in such manner as the College may stipulate including the paying by the Student to the College of any GST amount that may be imposed on the College at a subsequent date.

CONTRACTUAL AGREEMENT

A contractual agreement to reside in College for either the full Academic year (i.e. both First and Second Semester) or one Semester is entered into by any Student wishing to live at King's College whilst studying. As this applies to the agreed contract period, residents will not receive a refund of fees if they leave College early.

Students studying at other institutions may be accommodated at King's when King's College has room vacancies. Our first preference must be to those studying at The University of Queensland.

King's is affiliated with The University of Queensland and the College operates to The University of Queensland's semester timetable. Students studying at other institutions who choose to live at King's must be aware that services offered may not be to the same level when timetables differ, including temporary relocation to another room during UQ vacation periods and different meal times.
